VERNEY CARRON

For over two centuries, Verney-Carron has embodied a tradition of excellence and a French art of living, where each firearm tells a genuine story.

Today, supported by the family-owned Rivolier group, Verney-Carron is rethinking its lines, modernizing its production, and expanding its ambitions. Through its different ranges, Verney-Carron equips those for whom hunting is a true field of expression.

The 2026 collection draws on field experience and an intimate understanding of practical use. Far from passing trends or standardized production, Verney-Carron cultivates its deep connection to its craftsmanship, from which it derives its full legitimacy.

It is not a machine that dictates the pace and standards of production, but the hand of a skilled craftsman.

Through these firearms, Verney-Carron affirms a vision: that of timeless equipment, faithful to its rural inspirations, designed to accompany hunting enthusiasts in all their practices.

SAGITTAIRE POLYNOX

■ The first Sagittaire, introduced in the 1960s, marked the beginning of a range that has since become essential. Even today, Sagittaire rifles endure, remaining true to the craftsmanship of the Saint-Étienne gunmaking house. They continue to evolve to meet the expectations of new generations of hunters, while preserving a perfectly mastered mechanism.

Their barrels stand out thanks to a rare process: cold hammer forging. The steel is compressed around a mandrel to ensure maximum strength. Chambers and bores are chrome-lined to provide optimal protection, in keeping with expertise passed down from generation to generation. Equipped with a gold single trigger offering a crisp and controlled pull, the range evolves this year with a perfectly balanced action, more contemporary lines, and a redesigned profile.

SAGITTAIRE BÉCASSIER

■ A variation of the iconic Sagittaire, the Verney-Carron “Bécassier” range represents the culmination of craftsmanship entirely dedicated to woodcock hunting. Lightweight, responsive, and highly maneuverable, these over-and-under shotguns, fully manufactured in France, meet the expectations of even the most passionate hunters.

Designed for this demanding type of hunting, they stand out with their short and lightweight format, precise balance, and quick sighting, all favoring instinctive shooting in woodland environments.

Verney-Carron continues to evolve the range with new finishes. These over-and-under models now feature a slim, lightweight aluminum action, redesigned for greater comfort, along with 60 cm barrels. The lower barrel is rifled during the hammer-forging process and has no choke, ensuring a rapid shot spread.

The engravings across the entire range have also been redesigned. For optimal shooting comfort, the Bécassier models are equipped with double triggers, allowing the hunter to instantly select the most appropriate shot, ensuring maximum effectiveness in the field.
